Three thinking

A small, awkwardly shaped, city garden, with three visually disconnected aces, has been transformed into a cohesive green courtyard through the use of strong evergreen structure and creative vertical planting
